

Government Relations

North Carolina

Partner George Teague has focused on lobbying at the North Carolina General Assembly and offices of the executive branch of state government for over 40 years. He also handles administrative and regulatory matters before state government agencies, including the North Carolina Department of Insurance. George is well-known and highly respected in the halls of state government and has been ranked in the Top 50 Most Influential Lobbyists by the North Carolina Center for Public Policy Research.